About Nathalia Stenbo Blog

I started my blog in 2015 looking for a hobby and at the same time trying to figure out the whole idea of becoming a public image by sharing my thoughts on maternity with a twist of fashion. After 6 months, I had to take a break on this new passion of mine to focus on my career. After almost a year (03/2027) I realized that I had to come back to where my real passion was. I came back to my blog where my only focus is fashion, specialty for “modern moms”, as I like to say, but also expanding all types of girls/women and ages. A new page of my life was being created.

Today I’m focused on the idea of sharing outfits created by me to inspire other moms/girls around the world.

Advertising

Since I’m very new in this market, I haven’t done much marketing jobs yet but I have received several proposal emails which unfortunately wasn’t interesting enough for my business matter.

There are four words that describes my work which are fashion, marketing, ambition and professionalism – the perfect combination to a great success.
